The Grosvenor Library Bulletin

Buffalo, New York

Volume 20, Number 4

June, 1938

The June number of the Bulletin has, since 1934, been a bibliographical number, given over entirely to New York State imprints collected by Douglas C. McMurtrie. These have been:

1934, Buffalo imprints, 1812 - 1850, supplemental to Severance.

1935, Geneva imprints, 1800 - 1850.

1936, Additional Buffalo imprints, additional Geneva imprints.

1937, Ithaca imprints, 1800 - 1850.

Mr. McMurtrie suggested Auburn, N. Y. imprints for the 1938 bibliographical issue and the Library agreed. It was found that much printing was done in Auburn: in fact so many titles were found that the original copy was held up and the June, 1938 issue of the Bulletin is late.

The September issue will be a review of the work of the Library for the year 1937 - 8.

A Bibliography of Books, Pamphlets and Broad­sides Printed at Auburn, N. Y. 1810 - 1850

AUBURN, county seat of Cayuga County, N. Y., was first settled soon after the end of the Revolutionary War. The town was laid out in 1793 by Captain John L. Hardenburgh and was for some years known as Hardenburgh's Corners. When it became the county seat in 1805, it was renamed Auburn. Incorporated in 1814, Auburn was chartered as a city in 1848.

As evidenced by the following bibliography of books, pamphlets, and broadsides printed in Auburn from 1810 through 1850, the local press was surprisingly active for a town of its size. The establishment of the Auburn Theological Seminary accounted for some, but far from all, of the local printing and publishing activity. This Presbyterian institution was founded in 1819, chartered in 1820, and began instructional work in the year following. Many able men became members of its faculty.

William H. Seward, Secretary of State in Lincoln's cabinet, was a resident of Auburn from 1823 onward, and left a distinct impression on the community and its activities. A number of his addresses were printed by local presses.

The list of Auburn imprints here presented has been in work for about five years. A preliminary draft of it, comprising 240 titles, was mimeographed in 1936 by the Chicago Historical Society. Since then the list has been supplemented by libraries which checked the preliminary draft and by correspondents who, knowing my interest in western New York imprints, have sent in titles from time to time.

In recent months, important additions to the list have been made by the American Imprints Inventory, an activity of the Historical Records Survey of the WPA under the direction of Dr. Luther H. Evans. For use of these titles and for other assistance making for greater completeness of this list of Auburn imprints, I am under obligation to Dr. Luther H. Evans, national director of the Historical Records Survey, and to Howard E. Colgan, Illinois State Director of that Survey.

The list, as it is now printed, comprises 403 titles of imprints of the years 1810 to 1850, inclusive. Of these, a single copy only of 184 imprints is located, showing that many American publications of the nineteenth century are exceedingly rare. Still rarer, apparently, are 21 others known to have been printed, of which not even one copy has been located.

I must plead guilty to infecting Dr. William J. Hinke, librarian of the Auburn Theological Seminary, with a virus which has made him an enthusiastic "imprints fan." While driving back from the east a number of years ago, I stopped off at Auburn to pay a first visit to the notable library of the Auburn Theological Seminary. This visit aroused Dr. Hinke's interest in the early products of the local press. Since then he has been assiduously seeking them out in the library under his own direction, in other local libraries, and in private collections. Except for his zealous interest and cooperation, many of the imprints herein described would never have been brought to light. For his able assistance I am grateful indeed.

To many others I am indebted for aid in the compilation of this list. Mr. L. Nelson Nichols placed at my disposal, as usual, the titles in the imprint catalogue of the New York Public Library. Mr. Joseph Gavit, acting director of the New York State Library, went to great pains to find and describe for me the Auburn imprints in that institution. Mr. R. W. G. Vail, librarian of the American Antiquarian Society, generously supplied descriptions of titles in the great collection of our national historical society. Mr. Willard O. Waters, bibliographer of the Henry E. Huntington Library, reported titles in that institution.

To Dr. Augustus H. Shearer, librarian, and to other members of the staff of the Grosvenor Library, I am indebted for a check of the list against the holdings of that institution, as well as for the interest leading to the present publication of the list in the Grosvenor Library Bulletin.

Among the many other librarians who cooperated in the amplification of the present list may be named Miss Anne Pratt, reference librarian of the Yale University Library, Mr. Richard G. Hensley, reference librarian of the Boston Public Library, Mr. Edward G. Starr, curator of the Samuel Colgate Baptist Historical Collection at Hamilton, N. Y., and Mr. V. Valta Parma, curator of the rare book room of the Library of Congress.

Appropriately enough, 101 imprints, the largest number found in any collection, are reported from the library of the Auburn Theological Seminary. The New York Public Library follows with 89 located in that institution, while but two less, or 87, were found in the New York State Library.

In the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, Mass., 69 Auburn imprints of the period were found, and a like number are located in the Cayuga County Historical Society at Auburn. A number of imprints in this latter institution and in the possession of the Seminary were reported through the aid and assistance of Dr. Edward P. Alexander, New York State Director of the Historical Records Survey.

Other institutions largely represented, in order of the number of titles reported, are: Henry E. Huntington Library, with 59; Hamilton College Library, with 49; Library of Congress, with 42; Boston Public Library, with 41; Grosvenor Library, with 33; and Yale University Library, with a like number.

It may be added that further additions to or corrections of this list of Auburn imprints, will be appreciated. They may be sent to the Compiler at the address below.

Hon. Daniel J. Kenefick

The Grosvenor Library is the reference library of the City of Buffalo. It was established by the munificence of Seth Grosvenor who was one of the pioneer business men of Buffalo before the city was burned in 1812. He died in 1857 and left $40,000 to found a reference library "the books not to be lent out or rented and only used for reading in the building," the purpose being to supply standard literature, the more expensive works needed by students, and books for research. The act making provisions for the carrying out of the bequest was passed in 1859, but the Library was not opened for the public until 1870. The present building was erected in 1895 and the addition in 1922.

Although possessing this endowment the Grosvenor Library is almost wholly supported by the City of Buffalo and its resources are for the free use of the citizens, there being no membership or other special privileges connected with the institution. A welcome is extended to temporary residents and strangers.

The Library contains over 325,000 volumes, to which additions are continually being made. Library hours are: Week days 9 A. M. to 10 P. M., Sundays 2 to 6 P. M.

The Library welcomes telephone requests for information.

Telephone, Cleveland 7670
